

How Businesses Can Save Money on Utility Bills

Energy costs are one of the biggest expenses for businesses. If your company operates in a deregulated state or province, you have the power to lower your utility bills by choosing your electricity and natural gas suppliers. This means you don't have to settle for the default rate from your local utility. Instead, you can shop and compare third-party suppliers to find the best pricing available.

This simple strategy can help your business lock in savings and gain control over future energy costs.

Where You Can Choose Your Energy Supplier

In deregulated markets, businesses can choose from multiple licensed suppliers. These suppliers compete to offer better pricing, giving you the opportunity to reduce your energy expenses.

U.S. Deregulated States Include:

- Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Texas, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maine, Maryland, Delaware, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Michigan, California (partial)

Canadian Provinces with Deregulated Energy Markets:

- Alberta, Ontario (partial)

Choose Fixed All-In Rates for Price Protection

Third-party suppliers offer fixed all-in rates that bundle your supply costs into one stable price. This helps protect your business from unexpected rate increases.

You can choose from contract terms such as:

- 12, 24, 36, 48, or 60 months

Easy Enrollment Process for Lower Utility Bills

1. Compare offers from multiple suppliers in your area
2. Select your preferred contract length and rate
3. E-sign your agreement online
4. Wait 1 to 3 business days for supplier confirmation

Lock in Future Start Dates Today

If you're currently in a supply agreement that expires later, you can lock in a new rate now with a future start date.

Example: If your current agreement ends in September 2025, you can secure a new rate today that begins in September 2025.
